March 2009

Notes from the Homeroom:

The month of March marks the end of another quarter. As spring approaches, the 4th quarter of the year begins. Along with lessons and coursework, the 300 Cluster also had many social opportunities this month.

Some students participated in JV and Varsity basketball practices and games throughout the month. Many of the team members also had the opportunity to be in the tournaments. Congratulations to all the athletes in the cluster! What a great season!

The 300 Cluster Activity Day provided time for some motivational activities, where students saved tokens to socialize and have fun together during homeroom lunches, movies and ice cream sundaes. The Scholastic Book Fair was a very popular event this month. All students were given time to shop for books, magazines and posters, using tokens they saved up.

Students in the 300 Cluster who have earned Level 3 or above, worked hard doing jobs around the building as part of the Project ACT team. These students are trusted to use a pass to do jobs such as collecting cans and bottles, trash pick-up, working at AMP, working in the Library, delivering breakfast to homerooms in the morning and making lunches for the school lunch program. Great work everyone!
